The stages of the Grande Arrivo

BKOOL and RCS have made a careful selection of stages that includes some of the most epic and spectacular routes of the Corsa Rosa.

The Grande Arrivo includes eight different virtual routes, released throughout the two month competition. Each stage has been created by BKOOL using actual video recordings of the last edition of the Giro d'Italia, complemented by the introduction of different 3D elements to generate a new, more immersive and realistic simulation. The first of the stages is the urban prelude route in Torino, which is open to the public so that any fan can try out its simulation experience for 30 days completely free.

Just as in the two previous rounds, all participants in the Grande Arrivo will earn points as they complete their stages. Once the event is over, these points will count towards the grand final raffle, where more than a hundred gifts will be awarded.

This extensive list of prizes includes hospitality and accommodation packages at Il Lombardia, watches from Tissot, registrations for RCS Grandes Fondo races, shoes, helmets, cycling sunglasses, Premium BKOOL subscriptions, and much more.

Chris Froome and the EOLO Kometa team have already confirmed their participation

One of the main attractions of the Giro d'Italia Virtual hosted by BKOOL is the chance to ride alongside some of cycling's stars – without leaving home. In previous rounds, participants could share the virtual road with Alberto Contador, Quick-Step Alpha Vinyl pros, Chris Froome, Óscar Freire and Sergio Higuita.

Chris Froome has already confirmed that he will repeat at the Grande Arrivo, and members of the EOLO Kometa team (who will be competing in the real edition of the Giro d'Italia 2022) have also committed to participate. Many surprise additions to the start list are in the works as well.
